President

The University of New South Wales Medical Society (MedSoc) is a not-for-profit, student volunteer-run society with a mission to engage, advocate for, and enrich the lives of our members. This is achieved through events which educate, inspire, and facilitate networking; advocacy on behalf of students in the fields of equality, mental health, and academia; and sharing of information via our social media platforms.

Founded in 1959, UNSW MedSoc is in the 67th year of operation. From 2018-2025 we were rated the most popular first preference choice in the state for school leavers. With almost 1700 members, we comprise 10% of Australian future doctors. Students complete the Bachelor of Medical Studies/Doctor of Medicine, a six-year degree comprised of three phases:

Phase	Year	Description	Students	Rural*
1	1	Eight-week learning blocks on each system, with both years combining for the second semester	~270	25
	2		271	25
2	3	Coursework: 60% clinical placement and 40% classroom learnings	267	54
	4	Research & General Education	277	<10
3	5	A range of clinical rotations	264	72
	6		275	72

*Students may be based at campuses in Albury, Coffs Harbour, Griffith, Port Macquarie or Wagga Wagga

A partnership with UNSW MedSoc will boost your corporate profile, develop familiarity, and respect for your brand, and align your image with the profound impact we make on our students. We will adapt to your needs and are willing to negotiate any of the listed opportunities. Please note all prices listed are in AUD and inclusive of GST. This document provides a curated list of our most popular upcoming events. We also have a range of additional opportunities for which flexible sponsorship packages can be developed upon enquiry, including:

- ⇒ Academics – Course Revision and Student-led Tutorials, Information Sessions for large upcoming assessments
- ⇒ Sports – Four College Cup events, Interfaculty Competitions, Ski Trip

We look forward to cultivating a positive and mutually beneficial relationship with your organisation.

Kind regards,

Laurence Lancaster

Senior Students

Life and Money in the Real World

90 students (hybrid) + recording

October 12th

Maximum of 8 sponsors

Life and Money in the Real World (LMRW) is targeted at the penultimate year and graduating cohort of sixth year students. It informs students of the practical aspects of life as a healthcare system employee, which is often overlooked in our undergraduate training. Previous speakers include financial firms, organisations representing JMOs in the workplace and politically, locum agencies, and health insurance agencies. Life and Money in the Real World is always well-received, with many students personally expressing their enthusiasm for the event to continue for students in subsequent years. Sponsors will have the opportunity to engage a large audience of final-year students just prior to graduation. The event will be recorded for students on rural placements and those who cannot attend on the night.

Life and Money in the Real World Discount

*Life and Money in the Real World traditionally draws a high level of interest from sponsors. In 2026, to reward sponsors with an interest in other events, MedSoc will offer a discount to sponsors who spend at least $4000 (inclusive of GST) in 2026 supporting other MedSoc initiatives (as above).

Farewell Breakfast/Lunch

280 students (6th year)

Negotiable

Since 2018, we invite sponsors to host a farewell breakfast or lunch (or brunch!) to commemorate the completion of medical school for our graduating cohort. The large majority of Phase 3 students spend their time at their allocated clinical school, and thus we recommend these events are held at or near each hospital to ensure ultimate convenience for students attending. Please email sponsorship@medsoc.org.au if you wish to pursue this opportunity, and we will put you in contact with our sixth-year representatives to discuss the most suitable timing and location. This opportunity is free; however, we require sponsors organise the event and cover their own costs. Please note this opportunity is only available to sponsors who provide at least $4000 worth in sponsorship (inclusive of GST).

GradBook

280 students (6th year)

October

GradBook is a timeless keepsake given to all graduating students. Containing profiles, photographs, stories, and reports of the entire graduating class from over the past six years, it is a prized possession that these doctors will use to fondly reflect on six years of memories. Sponsorship of an advertisement of GradBook is not only a means to reach the vast majority of the graduating cohort, but also an opportunity to remind and reaffirm your brand image following Life and Money and the Real World or GradBall.

Electives Information Night

150 students (4th & 5th year) + recording June 1st

The elective term undertaken at the end of fifth year is one of the most memorable highlights of medical school. The Elective Information Night is for primarily for fourth- and fifth-year students planning their eight-week elective experience, as well as some eager second- and third-years. Two sixth-year students, recently returned from their own elective terms, are invited to come and share their own experiences including where to go, how to apply, and how to seek financial assistance and indemnity cover. Speakers from the medical faculty also address administrative details, highlighting the essential information students need to plan their elective. The event is heavily promoted and provides an invaluable opportunity to connect with medical students through stalls in the foyer of the venue, or direct address. The event is also livestreamed to our rural clinical schools.

First Year

Orientation Day

~180 students (1st year)

February 11th

The exciting and highly anticipated First Year Orientation Day is the very first opportunity new medical students have to meet their peers, staff, older medical students, MedSoc and our valued partners. Following a morning information session from Medicine Faculty, the students enjoy lunch on the lawn, followed by a tour around the university and introduction to our sponsors through a tradeshow held in Wallace Wurth. For most, this will be their first introduction to university life and will provide the opportunity for new and lasting relationships.

This day is aimed at enabling students to get to know the people who will accompany, support, and guide them on their journey as a medical student. It provides partners with an incredible opportunity to introduce themselves and cement their brand in the mind of students. We expect to see increased engagement from the previous few years as Covid-19 becomes less impactful on our events.

On the day there will be a talk by the UNSW Medical Society and a faculty welcome. Following this, from 3pm-4:30pm, there will be a tradeshow which will act as an opportunity for our partners to advertise their companies to the first year students.

Umbilical

280 students (1st year)

January 16th

Umbilical is a high-impact magazine printed and distributed to all first-year medical students during their Orientation Day (and available online for those that miss it). The publication strives to be a helpful, entertaining, and illuminating guide to UNSW medicine, featuring advice from senior students, an introduction to the medical disciplines, campus guides and a generous serving of medical puns and jokes. The guide is well-read and becomes the 'survival guide' for many students as they navigate their way through the first-year of medicine. An advertisement in this publication is the perfect way to begin your engagement with medical students as they embark on the next stage of their academic careers.

Meet the Mentors

420 students (primarily 1st year)

February 17th

The Peer Mentorship Program, organised by our Professional Development Directors, is our support mechanism for first-year medical students. Older students, ranging from 2nd-6th year, are grouped with first-years, providing the best tips, tricks and insights into the medical program, answering any questions required, forging lifelong friendships and enabling communication between year groups. Held after their first day of university, Meet the Mentors is our introductory night for the peer mentoring program, where peer mentors and mentees will meet each other, engage in group bonding activities, and begin the process of lifelong mentoring. There is also an introductory speech by the Sports Directors and the Professional Development Directors about MedSoc (Sponsors will be able to speak during the same period). Overall, the event is attended by 220 first-year mentees and 200 mentors from the remaining years.

MedCamp

200 students (1st year)

March 6th-8th

Held during the third week of the first-year course, MedCamp is the official welcoming three-day camp for new students, assisting them in meeting new people in their degree. Through getting-to-know-you-games, sporting competitions, a themed party on each night, and a tradeshow on the final day, students establish life-long friendships and familiarise themselves with student leaders from older years, easing their transition into UNSW Medicine. Traditionally, close to everyone in the first-year cohort attends MedCamp – a very important event in MedSoc’s calendar, and one of the most memorable events in the life of a UNSW medical student.

History Taking Night

150 students (1st year)

March 4th

This event is a History Taking Tutorial Night presented to first years by older students. It covers how to structure a history, what details to include and the manner that should be employed when interacting with patients. This serves as an academic event and is usually very well received as it relates to a key component of Phase 1 clinical skills. The speakers will also explain the format of a SOCA and an OSCE examination, the clinical examinations pertinent to Phase 1 students.

Merchandise: MedSoc Singlets

~200 students (1st year)

January 16th

In 2022, UNSW Medical Society distributed sports singlets to all members for the first time with a resounding success and they were also very popular among students in 2023-2024. These singlets are provided to first year students during MedCamp and are worn throughout the camp as the students compete for their Colleges in different sporting events. Within the medical society, Colleges serve the same purpose as house groups in high school. Each College has a distinctive colour and animal mascot, and sporting teams and class timetables are decided upon by College allocation. The singlets are also distributed to students in Years 1-6 that did not attend MedCamp and are worn at College Cup events throughout the year including soccer, basketball, oz-tag, and ultimate frisbee. As the UNSW Medical Society aims to increase the camaraderie of students within their Colleges, more sporting events will be organised throughout the year, serving to increase the use of singlets by students. Not only did the singlets serve as a comfortable and recognisable sporting attire, during the year, students also wear the singlets on campus and during recreational sporting activities.

As for the design, the singlets are double-sided and come in four different variations. The first side is the same for all singlets and displays the iconic UNSW Medical Society purple. The other side is divided into four different variations depending upon the College group allocated to the student when beginning the medical course. There is green for College Stanley, red for College Cooper, blue for College Hollows and black for College Blackburn.

Sides of the singlet:

The singlets provided to first year medical students are illustrated above with 6 different spaces where your logo can be implemented! They will be worn by first year medical students throughout the entirety of their degree (6 years). All students attending MedCamp will automatically receive a singlet and other first years who do not attend MedCamp can also purchase a singlet. Additionally, students in older years can purchase singlets. Below are the prices on offer for the different positions, noting that purchases for locations 1-3 will be placed on all singlets for all Colleges.

Academics and Leadership

Beyond Her Stethoscope

50+ students (1st-6th year)

May 28th

“Beyond Her Stethoscope - Careers and Balance in Medicine” is a new event hosted by the Womxn’s Directors of the UNSW Medical Society. It is aimed at celebrating and empowering female-identifying students and doctors in the medical profession. This interactive panel discussion and presentation event will feature accomplished female doctors from diverse specialties who will share their journeys—both in medicine and beyond.

Attendees will gain insight into the challenges and triumphs these women have faced, including balancing clinical careers with personal passions, leadership roles, advocacy, research, and creative pursuits. This event offers a unique opportunity to inspire the next generation of medical professionals while fostering a community of support, mentorship, and growth.

Careers in Medicine

(Meet the Medics + Q&A)

150+ students (1st-4th year)

August 6th

Previously ran across two separate nights, Careers in Medicine is a revamped event which now runs across a single night, combining Meet the Medics and Q&A into a single event. This popular event provides the opportunity for students to gain insight into their future careers by networking with current medics of different specialties and levels of experience. Meet the Medics features keynote speakers, followed by a rotational networking session in smaller groups where students can speak to practicing doctors in a less-crowded setting. This event provides the opportunity to engage with students as well as current professionals in the field. During canapes and drinks, students can also speak 1-1 with doctors and sponsors.

A Q&A panel with doctors from 4 different specialties speaking about pathways in medicine. Given the nature of the event, spots on the Q and A panel will be reserved exclusively for practicing specialists, although there is still ample opportunity to engage with both students and doctors.

How to Excel Forums

Phase 1: 150 students	February 16th
Phase 2: 50 Students [Online]	February 16th
Phase 3: 50 Students [Online]	January 12th

How to Excel forums aim to smooth the transition between high school and university and between different Phases of the medical degree, from first all the way to sixth year. The evening will begin with an introduction from Faculty members, followed by a panel discussion. A group of senior students, who have demonstrated excellence in their assessments, are invited to form the panel, and will offer guidance and suggestions for how to excel in both written and practical examinations, assignments, OSCE and portfolio. A second event will be held to guide third year "Coursework" students moving from predominantly campus-based study to a clinical-based style. The panel will discuss different strategies for getting the most out of the hospital experience, including the various opportunities available and who to talk to. A third event aimed at fifth years will provide information about assessments, including portfolio, and the biomedical examination. Speakers will give an overview of Year 5 and 6 and provide students with tips to excel. These events will be livestreamed.

EOC Tutorials

Phase 1 Students

6 per year

Held the week prior to each of the 6 End of Course Exams, these tutorials are extremely popular for students wanting to revise the term's content. Not only do we have students attending in person, but many students also watch the recording as well, helping us reach the entirety of Phase 1 students. Consisting of senior students covering three of the high-yield exam topics, these events are great opportunities for sponsors to advertise academic resources.

Women in Surgery Symposium

100 Students

August 1st

The Women in Surgery Symposium is a revamped version of the annual Women in Medicine surgical workshop, allowing for a larger audience and more surgeon involvement. It was run in 2021, 2022, 2023, 2024 and 2025 and was a huge success. In 2026, the event will consist of keynote speeches, guest panel, a networking luncheon, and an array of skills workshops. Discussion topics include experiences and successes of women in surgery; barriers to women in surgery; life as a woman in surgery and advice to medical students who want to pursue a career in surgery. It will involve female surgeon keynote speakers; a panel of female surgeons (including junior doctors, accredited registrars, fellows and consultants and a skills workshop taught by female surgeons. We aim to benefit students by inspiring female medical students to pursue a career in surgery, breakdown perceptions of life in surgery as a woman and provide the opportunity to network with female surgeons and link-minded medical students. The afternoon will feature workshops run by the sponsors, hopefully covering demonstrations of medical equipment and technology and anything else deemed beneficial for students to learn from both ends.

International Students

International Student Meet and Greet

100 students (1st year)

February 18th

This on-shore event is an opportunity to welcome new international students entering UNSW Medicine this year. This event aims to explain the role of MedSoc in supporting international students and provides essential information for survival as a student in Sydney. Topics include information on, setting up bank accounts, phone numbers, and other need-to-know aspects for international students.

The afternoon will also provide an overview of upcoming events in the MedSoc calendar. This is the first event of the year targeted at International Students and is a valuable opportunity for sponsors to address a large group of students very early in the year. Sponsors will be able to advertise during the presentation on the International Students' Information Pack. It is followed by the Onshore International Welcome Party to help increase numbers.

MedBall

450 students (all years)

October 16th

The annual UNSW MedBall is MedSoc's premier event of the year. MedBall is well-promoted to all UNSW medical students and beyond, with tickets traditionally selling out within a few hours. The event comprises of a threecourse dinner, an annual awards ceremony, commemorative speeches, and an after party. MedBall also has a charity raffle, the proceeds of which go towards an elected charity. This is expected to be one of the most highly anticipated MedBalls in recent times.

GradBall

250 students (6th year)

October 30th

Graduation is one of the most important and memorable times for a young doctor, celebrating both the completion of six arduous years of study and the exciting start of their professional career. UNSW celebrates this with the prestigious Graduation Ball. Consisting of a seated three-course banquet punctuated by prizes, awards, and commemorative speeches, live bands, a spectacular venue, and lavish décor, GradBall provides the perfect finale to their undergraduate medical studies.

MedSoc Annual General Meeting

120 students

September 17th

MedSoc's Annual General Meeting (AGM) represents a time of thanksgiving and appreciation. Each year, MedSoc's incoming volunteers are officially elected during our AGM while the previous council steps down and celebrates a successful year. Apart from around 100 MedSoc volunteers that are required to attend, our AGM attracts a good number of members that are interested to find out the results of the election as it is compulsory for all students running for a position in next year's council to attend.

Sponsors may choose to direct their sponsorship towards food, drink, or prizes/tokens-of-appreciation.

Social Events

ScrubCrawls

400 students

Late March & Late August

ScrubCrawl is one of the biggest events on our social calendar for all medical students at UNSW. With first-years in lab coats and the remaining cohort in scrubs, this yearly tradition helps students to escape the ardours of studying medicine, relax, and meet people from all phases of the degree. We will also be including a second scrub crawl in the second half of the year which was met with enthusiasm in previous years. Students begin at campus and then head to 3-4 bars for the night.

Integration Harbour Cruise

200-300 students (1st & 2nd year)

July 10th

During the second semester, Phase 1 (both first- and second-year) students combine, completing the same courses concurrently in mixed classrooms. To help facilitate new friendships in this vertically-integrated approach, the Integration Harbour Cruise sets the perfect scene to break the ice and let everyone relax a little before the second semester kicks in.

Retreats

MedSoc Council Retreat

74 council members

February 27th – March 1st

The 2026 MedSoc Council Retreat is a coming-together for the entire MedSoc Council Team. The event allows members to relax, get to know the team, and plan for their roles over the coming year. The weekend provides the opportunity to advertise to 74 of MedSoc's most engaged members and leaders, and offers potential avenues for future collaboration.

MedSoc Subcommittee Retreat

100 members

Mid July

The 2026 MedSoc Subcommittee Retreat is a coming-together for the MedSoc Subcommittee team as well as the respective Council members. Piloted in 2025, the event was highly successful in engaging subcommittee members, strengthening inter-committee collaboration, and fostering a shared vision for the year ahead. For sponsors, the retreat represents a unique opportunity to engage with a highly motivated cohort of medical students in a focused, immersive setting.

Sports

College Championship

50-100 per event

4 per year

The UMCC (UNSW Medical Society College Championship) is a sporting competition that takes place throughout the year. This event has been extremely successful in previous years, and we will be continuing the tradition in 2026. Within the medical society, Colleges serve the same purpose as house groups in high school. Each College has a distinctive colour and animal mascot, and sporting teams and class timetables are decided upon by College allocation. These events are integral for fostering College spirit!

Publications and Media

The Jugular

Website

The Jugular's modern website engages with the diverse medical community at UNSW, providing a fruitful opportunity to reach out and interact with our thriving medicine and health ecosystem. It features articles discussing scientific breakthroughs or new policies and initiatives, messages from special interest groups and affiliates, stories from conferences attended and so much more. The Jugular is holistic, exploring the daily lives and experiences of the diverse medical community. Featuring Q&As with students and staff, written pieces discussing a whole myriad of topics (films, literature, student lifestyle etc) and dedicated pages for our skilled artists and humorous meme-makers to display their talents. We are committed to expanding the reach and improving the quality content our website and would love to have you on board as well. The website will be launched early in the year. Sponsorship opportunities are for 12 months, from the time of implementation, and are sold on a per-item basis.

MedSoc Website

Our recently redesigned UNSW MedSoc Website is our members' destination for all things MedSoc. From events, to study guides, to opportunities and publications, the website is our sturdy channel of communication with our student body. Our domain name, medsoc.org.au, is one of the most highly-sought URLs by medical societies across Australia. It consistently returns a top-position in organic searches on popular search engines. With a growing amount of web traffic, the UNSW MedSoc Website has become an important online portal for past, current and future students. Sponsored articles couple nicely with a Facebook promotion or eDM describing the article in question.

Facebook

5600+ followers

Due to popular demand, MedSoc is now offering sponsors a brand-new way to interact with our community. Sponsored Facebook Posts allow our partners to use any text, images, videos and links they would like, and have these posted by the official UNSW Medical Society Facebook account.

By orientation day, our page will have in excess of 5600 followers and 5300 likes, including almost 1700 current UNSW medical students, as well as practising doctors, medical students from other universities, and the broader health community. On average in the past two years, each unboosted post reaches almost 1100 people, with our highest post reaching over 12,000 people and gaining 750 likes. If the post pertains to a particular event (e.g. involves a giveaway of tickets to a particular event, or relates to a presentation given), the post can also be shared to the relevant event page free of charge.

Benefits	Cost

Electronic Direct Mail & Mailout

1700 students (all years)

Our Weekly MedSoc Mailout provides all members of UNSW MedSoc with the latest updates to keep them involved and engaged. Upcoming events are highlighted, from social parties to student-led tutorials in preparation for exams, messages from the medical faculty are passed along, and the occasional humorous meme works its way in. The Mailout is widely read amongst students of all years, as it is the easiest and most efficient means to stay in-the-loop. To focus purely on your message, we also offer electronic direct mail (eDM), in which an email organised by your team will be forwarded to our entire membership base via our MedSoc Secretary. Opportunities to sponsor MedSoc through email are sold on a per item basis.

Medical Music

MMS is a special interest group dedicated to nurturing and maintaining musical passion and skill, as well finding a way to benefit the community with music. Our members are a group of talented musicians whose skills contribute to both instrumental and choral ensembles. Our repertoire explores many styles of music, enriching each member's experience and ensuring that the music we create is enjoyable for audiences. We also frequently branch out into the community, performing in hospitals and community centres to combine and share our love of music and medicine.

Lecture Series (30)

September 3th/10th/17th

DermSoc plays a crucial role in increasing exposure for medical students to the clinical and research field of Dermatology and fostering interest in Dermatology as a potential career. Not only that, we play an integral role in providing supplementary Dermatology education to those who have a keen interest in the field.

Over the past year, DermSoc has promoted this passion through highly successful and innovative events such as our Mock OSCE/ICE Sessions, Suturing Workshop, and Sydney Medical Students' Skin Conference (SMSSC), among others. With the assistance of sponsors, such as yourself, DermSoc will introduce even bigger and better events that advocate your brand and corporate profile to future medical professionals.

UNSW Internal Medicine Society is a student-run non-profit organization aimed to support interest in various aspects of internal medicine. IMSoc is the only collective in UNSW that provides an integrative platform for medical students to experience and learn about various subspecialties under internal medicine. While academic tutorials are an integral part of IMSoc's offerings, there is an emphasis on skills and knowledge beyond the medicine degree curriculum, providing scope for students to have hands-on experience with every aspect of internal medicine. The Internal Medicine Conference aims to inform students of the subspecialties within internal medicine through a lecture series, breakout sessions, panel discussions and practical workshops.

 Ophthalmology Lecture Series

UNSW Oculus Soc provides opportunities for medical students interested in ophthalmology to further their knowledge through events run by leading ophthalmologists in the country. Our society is affiliated with the Prince of Wales Hospital Eye Clinic and aims to: (i) increase ophthalmic education to medical students and (ii) promote this eye-opening medical specialty to the future doctors of Australia. Ocular pathology teaching night will provide both medical and optometry students alike with important knowledge of eye anatomy and pathology. Pathways into Ophthalmology invites prominent ophthalmologists to share their journey to becoming an ophthalmologist.

March 13th
June 2nd
September 14th

UNSW Psychiatry Society (PsychiSoc) is a Specialty Interest Group that promotes, facilitates and consolidates learning within the spectrum of psychiatric medicine for UNSW medical students. Each year, the society holds specialty pathway information sessions and academic tutorials to prepare students for a career in psychiatry. We also work closely with the broader UNSW Medical Society and the UNSW Medical Faculty to destigmatise mental illness and enhance our understanding of good mental health hygiene. Our fundraising initiatives aim to promote mental wellbeing among students and staff through the sale of delightful treats and mini gifts to inspire positivity and encourage moments of mindfulness, and the funds are donated to a psychiatry charitable organisation. Our annual Year 3 Counselling and Year 5 Biomed Pharmacology tutorials are popular events that are carefully designed to equip students with the skills and confidence needed to excel in sensitive and challenging scenarios encountered during OSCEs and VIVAs. This year, we aim to host more psychiatry focused networking and social events, as well as community-based activations, to bring together individuals of all backgrounds with a shared passion for mental health and wellbeing.

The University of New South Wales Surgical Society is an exciting scientific and educational society that was formed in 2009. As a society, we aim to support and advance the interest in surgery and its various subspecialties for UNSW medical students. In the coming year, we will be organising workshops which emphasise on developing skills and knowledge outside of the medical school curriculum. These events will provide valuable learning opportunities and exposure into the field of Surgery and its various subspecialties. As a non-profit organisation, our events are only made possible through the support and assistance of sponsors. Hence, we would like to invite you to consider sponsoring our many educational events and student development initiatives.

MOA was set up in 2015 with the aim to cultivate and develop the passion of medical students in not only practicing medicine but also reaching out to care for others through various humanitarian actions. Through the joint efforts of both our partners and us, we hope to create lasting improvements on the lives of those we have helped, and in the process, inspire medical students towards positive personal development.

MOA runs annual outreach trips to Dubbo and an international location. These trips provide students with an unprecedented opportunity early in their medical degrees to contribute to health education and community support. Student develop cultural awareness, leadership skills and practical interpersonal skills while tackling health inequity.
